

leadership	guiding others and helping a community make good decisions
worldview	the way someone understands life and decides what's right authority	the right or power to lead and make decisions influence	the ability to affect what people think, do or believe

Big Question: How do religious and non-religious beliefs shape leadership and influence?

- Why do humans need leaders?
- What do different beliefs teach about how leaders should behave?
- What do religious leaders do for their communities?
- How is leadership organised differently across religions?
- Should religious leaders influence society beyond their religion?
